We adopt best practices, become signatories of internationally recognised principles such as UNGC, and take action in accordance with the local and international laws and regulations.

By setting 17 United Nations Sustainable Development Goals as goals for the sustainability of our world and our country, we aim to make partnerships and collaborations with all our stakeholders to develop projects that benefit serve these goals.

We integrate best practices related to sustainability in our processes and decisions of our organization and our departments and provide the necessary institutional systems and transformation. We make every effort to ensure that sustainability is the focal point of our corporate culture, and we develop training programs and social projects for our employees with our Corporate Communication strategies.

We periodically report on the decisions we have made and implemented on sustainability and ESG, in order to share them with our stakeholders within the scope of transparency and accountability principles.

In order to raise the awareness of all our stakeholders about sustainability, we inform our stakeholders about the steps we have taken, support them to integrate best practices into their processes, and contribute to the transformation towards sustainability. As part of our Corporate Communication strategy, we announce the steps we have taken in many different channels.

We rely on consultants and expert teams to support our sustainability activities. We set our sustainability improvement targets based on the results of our quality management systems and the measurements we make with independent third-party appraisers and certifying bodies.

We communicate the sustainability policy to stakeholders and provide reminders, trainings, and meetings on necessary practices under the leadership of the Sustainability and Corporate Transformation and the Corporate Communication departments.

Within the scope of our Sustainability activities in 2023, we aim to develop and complete the following projects:

- To improve corporate culture and increase the satisfaction of our employees
- Reach net-zero carbon footprint for all our operations by 2024
- To ensure the integration of ESG criteria into all management and reporting systems
- To develop a sustainability project together with our stakeholders to meet the needs of our country's sustainability goals

We make and implement all our decisions within the scope of our sustainability policy in accordance with the laws and regulations which we are subject to.
